

Reserve a room while you finish the details

A temporary hold keeps a room available for 30 minutes. Staff can confirm it as a booking or cancel it when plans change.

Done

- Create a hold from the room calendar.
- See its status and expiry time.
- Confirm or cancel with a confirmation step.
- View-only staff can see holds without changing them.

What's left

- Reminder emails are planned.
- Bulk cancellation is outside this release.
- The one-time extension policy needs a decision.

This is a fictional demonstration. The UI illustration and feature claims do not describe a real product release.

What comes next

Planned

Reminder emails before expiry are not implemented.

Outside this release

Bulk cancellation remains outside the current feature boundary.

Decision needed

The product owner must decide whether staff may extend a hold once.

Ready to start

Draft the reminder email copy and delivery timing. Resolve the extension policy before adding an Extend button. After reminder implementation, test delivery failures and the expiry boundary.
